NUMBER 38, 23

Rev. Dr. William Curtis Stiles

The Rev. Dr. William Curtis Stiles of New York, one of the editors of the Standard Dictionary and associate editor of the Homiletic Review, died shortly before 4 o'clock Tuesday morning in the Bushwick Hospital, where he had been a patient for several weeks. Grip, sciatica rheumatism and other complications of ailments were the cause. Dr. Stiles had been failing in health for eight or nine months and had been confined to his bed since April. He was unconscious for six hours before his death.

Dr. Stiles was born in Stoneham, June 1, 1851. The family came to Norway when he was a boy and he attended school here and worked in the woolen mill.

He was a frequent visitor in Norway and was especially interested in the nature studies by boys.

He took an elective course at Tufts College, receiving the degree of B. D., and was graduated from the Tufts Divinity School in 1876. In December of the same year he married in Orleans, Mass., where he had his first pastorate.

Mary Allen Arny Newcomb of Wellfleet, Mass. He was ordained in the Universalist ministry that same year and in 1880 entered the Congregational ministry.

After his Brooklyn pastorate ended in 1884, Dr. Stiles accepted pastorate in St. Louis, Jackson, Mich., and several other cities. He retired from active ministry in 1890, accepting a position as editor on the Standard Dictionary, published by Funk & Wagnall Company, with which firm he had been associated ever since.

Dr. Stiles was the author of a number of religious books and contributed to magazines and religious journals. Two years ago he was co-editor of "Modern Sermons by World Scholars," and this year was co-editor with Dr. Robert Scott of "Cyclopedia of Illustrations."

He was a member of the Prohibition Republican Club and of the Manhattan Congregational Association.

Dr. Stiles was for many years in St. Louis, Pittsfield, N. H. Jackson, Mich., and Stonington, Conn. He was the author of "Literary Dozen" and "Out of Kishineff."

He is survived by a widow, Mary Allen Arny Newcomb, two sons, Alfred and Kenneth, and a daughter, Rachel Theodora; a brother, Moore, of Pennsylvania and two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Richmond and Mrs. Martha F. Deane of Lowell, Mass.

The interment was in the family lot in Wellfleet, Mass.

Dr. Stiles was in Norway last summer for several weeks visiting familiar scenes in this section. He preached at the Congregational church while here a few Sundays.

Mrs. S. H. Stanton of Lynn is visiting her sister, Mrs. Addie Rowe.

The Christian Science Society will hold their meetings in the Odd Fellows building.

Susie Marshall of Auburn, is the guest at G. H. Bennett's and is calling on friends in town.

Philip and Katherine Stone are visiting their relatives and friends at Lovell and Stoneham.

Frieda Gerbard of Boston, Mass., is spending a two week's vacation with her aunt, Mrs. Mary Cole.

Marion Ring, who has been visiting Mrs. M. A. Holden at Concord Jct., Mass., has returned to Norway.

Mrs. Frank Beck returned home Wednesday after spending a week with her father, David A. Jordan at the farm at Albany.

Hosea Abbott left Saturday for Kennebunk, where he is spending his vacation with Mrs. Abbott at her sister's, Mrs. Charles Tibbitt's.

Lewis Buswell is clerking at E. O. Winslow's grocery store during the absence of Addie DeCoster, who is at Old Orchard on her vacation.

Services at the Methodist church will be resumed by the pastor, Rev. B. C. Wentworth, next Sunday. Mr. Wentworth and family have been attending the campmeeting at Poland.

Susie Kelley, stenographer in the office of R. F. Spinney & Co., factory finished work this week Monday evening a party of Miss Kelley's friends gave her a pleasant surprise party.

Philip Stone has accepted the position as principal of the South Paris grammar school. Mr. Stone is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Fred Stone and a graduate of the Norway High school and is well known in the two villages. For the past few years has been teaching in Warren, Mass.

Mrs. Herbert A. Millett and four children, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ranger, L. D. Moore of Worcester and Mrs. Quincy Millett of Springfield, Mass., are at the Frostilla, Frost Hill, Lottie O. Millett of Bryant Pond and Pauline and Helen Smith of Oxford are visiting there for the week. Mr. and Mrs. Linneus Millett from Oxford spent Sunday there.

Mrs. George Brown and daughter and Benjamin Billings who have been visiting at the Frostilla, have returned to their home at Bryant Pond.

THE NORWAY ADVERTISER

(OXFORD COUNTY, ME.)
 AUGUST 17, 1911, NORWAY, MAINE. VOLUME XLII.

Salt Water Fish and a Whale.

The Oxford party went deep sea fishing last Saturday. There were 24 of them. Many were real veterans. Some had braved the storm tossed deeps and fish chowders of seven previous voyages.

C. F. Starbird, sub-assistant post master at Oxford, with democratic leanings, was manager. He walked the "quarter-deck" in oil skin, button-hole bouquet, cap pipe and note book in hand. He gracefully received salutes and orders and passed them along to the real skipper, Capt. Taylor Durgin of the "Fannie Belle." He was ably assisted by Ex-Manager Clarence H. Leighton, present superintendent of the Ossipee Valley Telephone Co., with deck room and switch-board at Cornish, Me. There were others who held semi-official positions, viz.: Charles C. Davis, Leander F. Wardwell and J. L. Kay. They were useful and busy—so much so they had little time to fish.

Two purses—a ten center and 25 center—were made, divided 50, 30 and 20 per cent. for the three largest fish; awarded respectively as follows:
 John E. Burns, first prize, 14 pound cod, $1.50.
 C. H. Linnell and F. H. Lovering, 13 pound cod, each 40c.

A Chester Witham and Ed Lapham each had an 8 pound cod and got the 3d prize of 31 cents each.
 In the 25 cent purse:
 C. H. Linnell got first, $2.25 for a 13 pound cod.
 Ed Lapham, 2d, $1.35 for an 8 pound cod.
 J. C. Sanborn, 3d, 90 cents for 7 1/2 pound fish.

The vessel was propelled by a motor and by sails. A boom swung and knocked off Eugene L. Burns straw hat. A paper cap was made and he got on very well.

A whale out to sea was seen spouting several times.
 Some two barrels of fish were caught and no one was seasick.

Those from Oxford:
 Cyrus H. Linnell, Leander F. Wardwell, John E. Burns, C. H. Linnell, J. L. Kay, C. F. Starbird, J. C. Sanborn, Ed Lapham, J. L. Kay, J. F. Lovering.

Those from Cornish:
 C. H. Leighton, Ira Garland, J. S. Chick, C. H. Davis, Jesse C. Sanborn, Bridgton, W. S. Brooks, Woodfords, W. L. Strong, Portland, Geo. F. Rowe, Woodfords, W. L. Strong, Portland, Chas. S. Akers, Norway, F. W. Sanborn, Norway, Ed Lapham, Bethel.

Mary Jane Swan.

Mrs. Mary Jane Swan passed away at the home of her son, Charles H. Swan, on Alpine street, South Paris, Aug. 10, aged 95 years. She suffered a shock in January, 1910, and had been confined to her bed since that time. She was one of the most patient of sufferers and was cared for tenderly by her son and his wife.

She was the daughter of Asa Dunham and Mary Cleaves and was the last of a family of nine children.

She married William Berry Swan in 1855. Two children were born to them, Ella and Charles. She leaves behind, besides Charles H., two grandchildren, Charles Earle Swan and Mrs. Myrtle Davis.

Funeral services were held at her son's home Saturday at one o'clock. Rev. Mr. Cheebro and Rev. Mr. Davis spoke many comforting words to the family and friends and feelingly sang the hymns she had so much liked to hear.

Her relatives wish here to thank the neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted them in the time of sorrow, and for the beautiful flowers which were so abundantly bestowed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Abbott—Set piece.
 Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Merrill—Set piece.
 Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Linnell—Set piece.
 Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Bolster—Set piece.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram L. Libby have been spending few days with Mrs. Libby's sister, Mrs. D. B. Brown at Brezzy Point at Harrison.

A Covered Dish Party.

Mildred Holmes gave a very interesting lawn party under the spreading limbs of the large butternut tree at her home, Thursday evening the 10th. Ten of Miss Holmes lady friends were invited to come early, bring food in a covered dish and let the contents be a secret.

When the guests were seated about the table, lots were drawn for order of serving. This created much curiosity and also wonderment to know what would come first, whether ice cream, or frittasse of chicken, as the arrangement of the menu must necessarily be a mix up.

The courses were partaken of with a relish and good appetites till the sixth course when some one suggested that they run around a block or chase the squirrel for exercise which was done. Much laughter and many witty remarks were by the lookers on.

After the dishes had all been opened, each guest was given a new clay pipe, a paper napkin, needle and thread and a doll. In this great art was brought out and some wonderful specimens shown, the hobble skirt being in evidence. Prizes were offered for the best, second and poorest articles of art and craft.

Josephine Stearns, first; Helen Howe, second and Maud Mixer, third. Mrs. Rose M. Drake of North Weymouth, Elizabeth Beal and Mrs. Herman Horne were judges.

The invited guests were Maud Pike, Josephine Stearns, Helen Howe, Marion Smith, Geneva Barker, Grace Thibodeau, Edith Ridout, Hazel Foster, Maud Mixer.

Camp Notes.
 Ralph Richardson and "Deacon" Shaw spent Saturday night and Sunday at the camp. Mr. Richardson is a very good cook as he did splendidly with our dinner. Philip Haskell spent Sunday afternoon with us.

Owing to the rain, Tuesday, the dance had to be postponed. Arthur Welch was on hand with his music. I last night. Frank Laman is very much put out over it. He says that the dance will be held next week some time.

Selden C. Foster is giving us boys short talks on the brain and when it should be used. Mr. Foster is a very brassy man, but all know but he is a little too slow in getting his brain working. He says C. N. Tuobis is going to paint his barber shop outside and hopes he does as it needs it.

The woods around our camp are full of little children as squirrels and mice. Mr. Welch will tell you when the dance is coming. The orchestra has all the new and up-to-date pieces of music to fit the occasion. Mr. Shaw of Norway pleased us very much with his music. He is a fair cornetist. He is also a singer and dancer.

Famous Last Scene of Quincy Adams Sawyer.
 That tremendously popular rural play "Quincy Adams Sawyer" which seems to be repeating everywhere its New York success at the Academy of Music, has many strong comedy features; yet, to the severe touches of true pathos which prove that author, producer and management have labored with good results to appeal to the sentiment that is close to the surface in every theatre audience.

The surroundings, the tale—scenes of the last act, for example, are most effective in a novel, striking and powerfully appealing way. The rising curtain discloses the exterior of a farmhouse, wrapped in the folds of a New England snow storm. A moment is given to this picture, and the front wall of the house disappears and the action of the play goes on within it. The storm without is indicative of the stress within, and the visual impression intensifies sympathy with the tribulations of the characters. Hope blossoms into fruition, the action proceeds and joy succeeds grief.

When the story has come to its happy end, the family group, which has been about the supper table, joins in singing the Doxology, and at an instant later the house exterior is shown, bathed in soft moonlight. The storm without has passed and as has that within, and the smoke which curls lazily from the chimney betokens peace and comfort. These contrasting scenes are most significant in symbolic beauty; like the famous last scene of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the last act of "Quincy Adams Sawyer" has moments which will be remembered long after recollections of the main story of the play has passed out of the mind.

Prof. Towne, Carroll Delano and wife and son are spending the week in Boston. They will return in Mr. Towne's automobile.

Caught by Worthless Checks.
A gentleman registered at the Beal's Hotel, Sunday, August 6th, as Clarence Mann, Philadelphia, Pa., and on the following day made a couple of purchases on the street, offering in payment checks considerably larger than the amount of the purchase. The unsuspecting traders cashed the checks and parted with their goods and money.

In due time both checks were returned marked "no funds" and the traders are trying to locate Mr. Mann but up to now have been unsuccessful.
Deputy Sheriff W. A. Bicknell has the matter in hand.

Frank Melville Ross.
Frank Melville Ross died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George W. Winslow of Norway, Thursday, Aug. 10th, at 6 o'clock p. m. of acute dilatation of the heart, at the age of 63 years, 6 months and 28 days. Mr. Ross was born at North Yarmouth, Feb. 12, 1848, son of Caleb S. and Phoebe Groves Ross. He was educated at North Yarmouth and lived there for sixty years. Three years ago he came to Norway. From 1867 to 1888 he was baggage master on the Grand Trunk, running from Portland to Island Falls.

In politics he was a republican. He was a member of Casco Lodge, F. & A. M. He married Mary A. Tuell of North Paris, May 31, 1874. She died June 21, 1878. In June 1880, he married Abbie Robinson of Lewiston, who died in 1890. He is survived by one daughter, May B. Winslow of Norway; also two brothers, H. G. Ross and C. H. Ross of Yarmouth and a sister, Mrs. W. H. Jordan of Auburn. In 1906, he sold his home in North Yarmouth and came to Norway to live with his daughter. For the past twenty-five years he has been a great sufferer from general neuritis. At the age of thirty-eight he was stricken with paralysis, which left him an invalid. He has been ill with health with great fortitude and patience.

F. H. Hill and his family went to their camp Evergreen at L. C. K. Mills, Thursday, for ten days' vacation. Their daughter, Mrs. G. L. Emery, and child will accompany them, and while there they will entertain Beryl Knight of Norway and Elmer Packard.

Mrs. Florence Elwell Atkins of Tennessee will speak at Grange hall next week Thursday evening, August 24. Mrs. Atkins is one of the National W. C. T. U. speakers and organizers and was one of the workers in the Prohibition campaign in Tennessee. She is called the woman orator and a natural speaker. Don't fail to hear her.

At the Grange meeting last Saturday afternoon they voted to let their hall to Rev. L. W. Raymond, who is the president of the Constitutional Amendment League, for whatever term he may desire. He may see fit to hold, free of charge except for lighting, until the second Tuesday in September. They also chose their committee for the Oxford County Fair exhibit, which will be in the advertisement next week.

Leon E. Cummings of Dorchester, Mass., has been the guest of his uncle, D. H. Fifield. They visited the Ice Caves in Greenwood, Friday. Mr. Cummings is the eldest son of George F. Cummings, who formerly lived in Greenwood. He was graduated from Tufts College and since that time has held a responsible position in the law book department of Little & Brown, publishers of Boston, and has been promoted twice. His mother also visited here a part of the time while he was here.

The Temperance meeting, Tuesday evening, was considerably broken up by the heavy shower that came up at about that time. About 35 children and adults who got there before the shower started, enjoyed a short informal program.

There were two readings, one by Herbert Richardson and one by Mrs. C. E. Chase; a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Welcome of Waltham, Mass., entitled "Mother's Boy," with a quartet chosen in which their son Arthur sang the bass and Alice Barden the alto. The Young Campaigners sang four songs from their song book and gave their rally yell during the program. The meeting was adjourned one week, on next Tuesday evening there will be another meeting at the Grange hall. All are invited.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Favored With Music and Dancing.
The lovers of music and dancing have been highly favored the last two weeks. On Friday evening, the 4th inst., a dancing party was given at Grange hall under the auspices of Packard's family orchestra, assisted by E. W. Stoddard. The attendance was very good, and a favorable fore-runner of the big Midsummer ball which came off one week later.
Friday evening, Aug. 11, witnessed a crowded assemblage of votaries of the "Tango" at Grange hall, numbering of dancers and spectators about 150. Beside the resident young people who are fond patrons of the dance, there were many summer guests from the Lake house and other favorite places in town, and representatives of several other towns.
The ball was under the management of H. H. Smith, L. R. Rounds, Waterford; Merle Libby, Horace Kimball, Bridgton and Bert Hill, Harrison. A grand septet orchestra furnished superb music consisting of Packard's Family Orchestra assisted by E. W. Stoddard, Harry Smith of Harrison, drums.
It was an occasion just adapted to the tastes of the past and the future, "right and left," "down center," and "swing partners" for Packard display his patrons a chance to display their varied accomplishments. Excellent refreshments of ice cream and accompaniments were furnished in the banquet hall by Horace Smith.

The speakers are announced as Hon. C. F. Whitman and Rev. B. C. Wentworth of Norway. Good campaign songs are in the program. Shall it be yes or no?

An important error of statement in a recent item in this column is for correction. "Waterford Creamery was said to be producing 3,000 pounds of butter per month, which should have been 3,000 pounds per week. Indeed, Mr. Abbott, chief butter-maker, stated to the effect that the amount of output of butter in one of the weeks of midsummer was 4,300 pounds.

E. G. Emerson made a notable tour among and around the White Mountains with an automobile party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Thompson and Louis Heydacker, summer trip was to the west side. The return trip was via Gorham, N. H., and Bethel. The whole journey was without accident and full of pleasure.
Bear Mountain Grange, at its last meeting, decided to appoint Tuesday, Aug. 29, for its annual field day, with an all day meeting at Grange hall. Suitable preparations for the occasion will be made by a committee, in compliance with recommendations of the Master and Secretary of the State Grange. The program of entertainment consisted of a dialogue by Carrie and Mae McKinney; song, Margaret Sias; recitations by Margaret Huzzey and Mae McKinney; declamation, Raymond Sanders; duet by John Muller and Ronald Huzzey; recitation by Margaret Sias and two beautiful songs by Ethel Monroe; accompaniments by Sister Jennie Sanderson. Two candidates were passed through the 3rd and 4th degrees.
